INVIOLATOR: Student Seminar DATE: 25.11.24
EXAM: Canton Trade

Between 1759-1842 china's foreign trade was carried through Canton. It was a single port trade. Other parts of china were not open to the foreigners. The foreigners were not allow to enter them. The English merchant James Fleet tried to build up trade relation with the northwestern ports such as Ningbo, Amoy and Shanghai but failed. Outside the Canton port city the foreign companies built up their 13 colonies on the banks of the pearl river. The total area covered by the foreign establishment was 21 acres. For this the Hong merchants were paid rents. The Chinese court permitted 13 to Chinese trade organisations, called Hong to conduct trade monopoly trade of Canton.
