A particularly memorable aspect of the programme was the presence and participation of former students of the Department of Sociology. Their participation added a special dimension to the celebration and reflected their continuing attachment to the Department. The interaction between present and former students created a sense of continuity, belonging, and togetherness within the departmental community.

Dr. Aritra Ghosh, Head of the Department of Sociology, addressing the students on the occasion of Teachers' Day Celebration, 2026

Although the 5th Semester students could not participate due to their ongoing examinations, the students of the 1st and 2nd Semesters successfully organised and conducted the programme with sincerity, enthusiasm, creativity, and a strong sense of responsibility.

Mr. Sarojit Kapasi, Faculty Member, Department of Sociology, addressing the students on the occasion of Teachers' Day Celebration, 2026

The teachers of the Department sincerely appreciated the efforts of the students and congratulated them for making the celebration memorable. They also conveyed their best wishes to all the present and former students for their academic progress, personal growth, and future success.

Overall, the Teachers' Day celebration was a joyful, meaningful, and memorable occasion, reflecting the spirit of mutual respect, affection, cooperation, and strong teacher–student relationships that characterize the Department of Sociology, Serampore Girls' College.
